Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2009 im Fachbereich BWL - Investition und Finanzierung, Note: 1,3, FOM Hochschule für Oekonomie & Management gemeinnützige GmbH, Neuss früherer Fachhochschule, Veranstaltung: International Finance & Accounting, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Die Eigenkapitalausstattung deutscher Unternehmen im internationalen Vergleich liegt auf einem niedrigen Niveau. Gründe hierfür könnten in der Gestaltung des Kapitalmarktes liegen, aber auch in der deutschen Managementkultur. Fakt ist, dass eine niedrige Eigenkapitalquote für die Aufnahme von Fremdkapital ungünstig ist. Wenig haftendes Eigenkapital erhöht das Risiko für den Kapitalgeber, verschlechtert somit die Konditionen für den Kapitalnehmer und schränkt gleichzeitig die Kreditvergabe in hohem Maße ein. Diese Arbeit betrachtet die Möglichkeit der Finanzierung junger Unternehmen mit Eigenkapital, das durch private Investoren bereitgestellt wird. Fokus ist primär die Funktionsweise und den Ablauf einer Venture Capital Finanzierung durch Business Angels und deren Motive. Diese Möglichkeit soll ferner aufzeigen, in wie weit es sich als Alternative zur Fremdkapitalfinanzierung anbietet und wie der deutsche Markt im internationalen Vergleich positioniert ist. Die Entwicklung wachstumsstarker und innovativer Unternehmen erfordert in vielen Fällen Kapitalbeträge, die deutlich über die persönlichen finanziellen

Möglichkeiten der Gründer bzw. Unternehmer hinausgehen. Öffentliche Fördermittel stehen nur in begrenztem Umfang zur Verfügung und eine Fremdfinanzierung wird häufig durch nicht ausreichende Sicherheiten eingeschränkt. Daher bietet sich für den Unternehmer die Möglichkeit einer Beteiligungsfinanzierung durch unternehmensfremde Eigenkapitalinvestoren an. Besonders für junge Unternehmen, die sich noch in der Wachstumsphase befinden, aber auch für größere mittelständische Unternehmen stellt ein Börsengang als Instrument der Eigenkapitalbeschaffung über den Kapitalmarkt meist keine Alternative dar. Die Eigenkapitalstruktur kann stattdessen über Venture Capital- oder Private Equity Gesellschaften optimiert werden. Zur Verfügung gestellt wird Venture Capital, auch Risiko- oder Wagniskapital genannt, von Venture Capital Gesellschaften, die in der Regel über Banken, Versicherungen oder Großunternehmen, aber auch über Privatpersonen durch die Bildung von Fonds, finanziert werden. Eine Variante bzw. Ergänzung zur Beteiligung durch eine VCG stellt die Kooperation mit einem Business Angel dar. [...]
